HUD Alters Groundrules Again;

City Funding Doubtful

New priorities for funding under a federal Housing and Urban Development grant program will at best force Canyon to redraw a request for funds and at worst write the city right out of any prospects of receiving monies.

That's the discouraging word brought back to the city by Acting City Manager Tom Plumlee Tuesday after attending Monday afternoon HUD information session in Amarillo.

Plumlee, who drew up the current program for what originally was announced to be $760,000 in federal grant funds for the city over the next six years, said Tuesday the ground rules under which HUD will operate to provide funding have again changed—this time to the disadvantage of Canyon.

HUD officials Monday, he said, have revised the funding totals which will be available to the city, but will reveal no estimate. They've only indicated Canyon might be eligible to seek $31,000 for an initial year.

They have also revised the priorities to be used to allocate the six years worth of money. And, they've revised the timetables for completing grant applications.

Plumlee's original plan, one tentatively approved by Canyon city commissioners, called for the $31,000 first-year funds to go for hiring a full-time economic development planner for city hall and to supplement the Canyon Senior Citizens Association effort to find a suitable building.

Under new priorities revealed Monday, funding will be allocated first to cities which qualify under one of the following categories:

*A high percentage of poverty

*A high percentage of substandard housing

*Adverse impact due to national policies (such as the closing of an air force base)

*Participation in joint city projects

*An imminent threat to the health or safety of citizens

"These are the priorities on who gets funding," Plumlee said.

Because of the new priorities, he said, the Canyon first-year plan will be drastically altered. Funding for the economic development planner will be deleted and it is probable that funding for the senior citizens will also be dropped from the program.

Plumlee said the city's request must be based on tangible results for the first year, and thus must concentrate on such things as new sewer and water lines or street paving.

He said it is possible, even with the restrictive priorities, that certain portions of West Canyon would still qualify for funding.

"We have nothing to lose by trying," he said. "There's still some things we can do. It depends on how much money is available."

Plumlee said it now appears the $760,000 figure broadcast months ago by HUD is not an accurate estimate of the funding which might be available for use by Canyon over the next six years.

He admitted it will be difficult to come up with a program which shows tangible results the first year with only $31,000 to work with.

HUD officials told him Monday there is no assurance funding will be available after the first year.

"There's nothing to lose and we'll still submit an application," he said. "But, this is generally for larger cities."

Plumlee will revise the grant application before March 1 when it must be submitted to the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission for review. He said word on whether the application should be forwarded to HUD will come later in March.

Canyon city commissioners held a public hearing in late December, when they believed they would receive $760,000 over the six-year period, to listen to possible funding proposals from the public. Most proposals concentrated on the need for a senior citizens center and for park and recreation facilities.

Plumlee said the senior citizens' $6000 as envisioned in the original grant application could be kept in the subsequent application, but only if senior citizens come up with a concrete proposal for using the funds.

Amarillo-Canyon Area Boom Turns To Bust For Many Job-Seekers

The well-advertised boom in the Amarillo area has turned to bust for some hopeful families seeking jobs in the area.

There's another side to the industrial and construction boom in the Amarillo area. Apparently, many families are coming to the metropolitan area actively seeking but unable to find work.

Amarillo officials say this effect of the healthy job climate in the area is only temporary.

Spurred by advertisements such as one which appeared this month in a state-wide magazine boosting Amarillo's growth and low unemployment, hundreds of families are coming to the area to seek work.

County Judge Woody Pond outlined this week the bust side of the boom as he told of several families who have come to his office for groceries to tide them over until work can be found.

Noting a dramatic increase in the number of welfare requests from the county during the new year, Pond said many of those who seek his aid are from other parts of Texas or are from northern states.

"They heard there was such a boom up here, and they came up and couldn't find a job and then they come down here and want something to feed their kids," he said. "They tell me there's no work where they've been living and they heard there was quite a bit of work here. Some have found jobs and some haven't."

Pond detailed the story of one husband and wife, the husband looking for skilled labor, his wife pregnant but not under a doctor's ·e.

"he old boy was a welder and he'd run out of work where he was and he said he'd weld or scoop dirt or anything," Pond related. "He said he looked for a job for three weeks up here."

Pond provided grocery funds and sent the woman to the county health officer for examination.

Other cases are similar, but they revolve around the national malady of unemployment in other areas and a certain transient quality to those who come to the Panhandle seeking jobs.

In most cases, the judge said, he is unable to offer aid. In other cases, he can dip into county welfare funds for groceries, and can also aid in locating jobs. Usually, he refers those who are looking for jobs to other welfare and social agencies.

He cites the example of a young couple with several children. The husband had been working, but lost his job and came to the Amarillo area to seek employment. After spending days looking for a job, he turned to Pond for assistance, his funds depleted and his children hungry.

"I bought them $25 worth of groceries and we gave him some inquiries on jobs and he went to see about them," Pond said. "He found a job."

Mrs. Mary Ann Cathey, director of the Amarillo state welfare department food stamp program, said her office has been deluged with the same kinds of cases.

While she could cite no statistics, she said it is the feeling among workers in her office that the number of persons looking for, but unable to find, jobs is on the increase in Amarillo, primarily among persons attracted to the city because of the reported boom in the economic sector.

Jenny Manning, food stamp worker in Canyon, said the in-

January Permits Up Over '74 Total

Construction in Canyon got off to a good new year's start during January with building permit totals up more than 300 percent over the 1974 January totals.

City Building Inspector Jerry Lehnick said figures indicate building permits were issued during January this year for construction totaling $88,900. That figure compares with January 1974 figures of $26,900.

This year's January total includes three new housing starts, totalling $60,500, and the remodeling of the old Central Church of Christ building, for $25,000.

Even though higher than the '74 monthly figures, the January 1975 total is down considerably from that of January 1973, when building permits totalled $127,-050.

While the year may be starting well in construction, Lehnick was not sure what impact current national economic factors will have on construction this year.

He indicated housing sales here are not going as rapidly as in past years.

"I only know of one house that's sold here lately," he said. "Unless we can sell more then

County Asks Congressmen To Continue Fed Sharing

Randall County commissioners followed a City of Canyon lead Monday and instructed County Judge Woody Pond to pen a letter to U.S. senators and representatives from this area in support of a continuation of the federal revenue sharing program.

Commissioners agreed with a suggestion by acting chairman Commissioner Jim Fletcher and Commissioner John Fulgenzi, who last weekend attended a county officials' conference in College Station, that the county go on record in support of the federal funding.

Fletcher said the move had been discussed in the weekend conference, where he and Fulgenzi learned that many Texas counties had spent their five years' worth of federal revenue sharing for capital improvements.

A letter voicing support of the program's continuation will go to U.S. Rep. Jack Hightower of Vernon, who represents this district, and to Sen. Lloyd Bentsen and Sen. John Tower of Texas.

City of Canyon commissioners wrote a similar letter to the officials before election day last fall and added an additional request—that the three representatives, and then-incumbent Rep. Bob Price of Pampa, return a letter setting out their views on the program.

The Canyon commissioners received letters of full support for the continuation of revenue sharing from both Bentsen and Tower. Price did not commit himself to support of the program, and Hightower did not respond to the commission letter, but told The News he would not support continuation of revenue sharing.

In other business Monday, commissioners turned down a request for $5300 in additional funding for the Amarillo Kids, Inc., program.

But, the commissioners told Kids, Inc., representatives they might find surplus funds by the mid-year mark and, if not, they would be receptive to additional funding for the fiscal year which begins Jan. 1, 1976.

Fletcher, acting in the absence of a hospitalized County Judge Woody Pond, said the judge and the county auditor reviewed the 1975 budget and were unable to find surplus funds which might be switched to bolster the Kids, Inc. budget, which now stands at $2200.

Two weeks ago, Kids, Inc., officials had asked for a hike in funding from the county, noting also that they were seeking similar hikes from Potter County's commissioners and the Amarillo city commission.

Fulgenzi told the Kids, Inc., officials he believes the program they have to be excellent and expressed disappointment the funding was not available.

"It does concern me, being a resident of Randall County, that a public entity is operating on such a close budget that no reserve funds can be diverted to this use," Chuck Allen, a Kids, Inc., representative, said.

"We're limited because of economic conditions," Fletcher said. "We're very concerned this

Banquet Is Saturday Night Here

Chamber Will Honor Outstanding Citizen

WELDON TRICE will be installed as president of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce at Saturday's banquet, Feb. 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the East Cafeteria of West Texas State University where an oversize United States flag will form the backdrop. The flag is one that formerly flew over the United States Capitol building in Washington, D.C. and was presented to former Congressman Bob Price for presentation to West Texas State University via the campus Veterans Association of America. Unfolding the flag with Trice is Mrs. Leon (Dianna) Gheer, 1975 president of the women's division of the Chamber.

Canyon's Chamber of Commerce will conduct their annual public banquet, installation of officers, present the "citizen of the year" award, and have an after-dinner speech by Dr. Heartsill Wilson who is acclaimed as the "best speaker in America" in the fields of human motivation and management psychology.

The chamber banquet will be held Saturday evening, Feb. 15, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the East Cafeteria at West Texas State University. Tickets for the occasion are $6 per person, available early at the Chamber's office or at the door that evening.

Dr. Wilson, Sc.D., was recently acclaimed as the "best speaker" for the fourth consecutive year, an honor never before given to an American speaker. He is an accounting major and tax specialist by background, and became known for his genius of communication while serving on the executive staff of the Chrysler Corporation. His presentations on sales management, personal motivation toward excellence and improved management technology have brought him standing ovations from audiences throughout the hemisphere.

In the past ten years, Dr. Wilson has emerged as a dynamic and highly articulate voice for clients including General Motors, Ford Motor Company, Chrysler, General Electric, Equitable Life, National Real Estate Boards, numerous other Associations, Industrial organizations, Chambers of Commerce groups and others. He has often returned for second, third and fourth appearances for many of his engagements.

Dr. Wilson has starred in more than 20 industrial motion pictures and has appeared in more closed circuit television shows than any other lecturer known. He is the creator of Dimensional Cybernation, the newest idea for personal management and communication technologies and has given live audience speeches for more than a million persons each year.

The after-dinner banquet program will be opened with an invocation by Rev. Jim Hancock, new pastor of the First Baptist Church in Canyon, and welcome to guests from area cities by John Childs, the outgoing president of the Canyon Chamber.

Weldon Trice, 1975 chamber president, will introduce the new slate of officers including Cor-

Attorney For Petitioners Now Trustees' Lawyer?

The Amarillo attorney for a handful of South Amarillo subdivision residents who've fought to have their property and that of an Amarillo developer annexed into the Amarillo School District is representing himself to the Texas Education Commissioner as attorney also for the Randall County Board of School Trustees.

An angered County Judge Woody Pond, who serves as ex-officio county school superintendent, met with Dist. Atty. Randall Sherrod, who is in fact and in law the attorney for the county board, Monday afternoon after learning Amarillo Attorney Bob Templeton filed a brief with the state education commissioner representing himself as attorney for the county school trustees.

Templeton filed the brief recently in connection with a hearing held last month in Austin on an appeal filed by the Canyon School District. The district appealed a Nov. 14 county school board decision allowing 165 acres of subdivision development property to be detached from the Canyon district and annexed by the Amarillo district.

The document was filed under the heading "Brief on Behalf of the Randall County Board of School Trustees."

And, it states in its opening paragraph: "The Randall County Board of School Trustees, in support of their order detaching 176 acers from the Canyon Independent School District and annexing same to the Amarillo Independent School District, submits this brief that their order is correct and shows:. . ."

The brief closes with: "Wherefore, the County Board requests the Commissioner of Education to affirm and ratify the action of the County Board in annexing this tract of land to the Amarillo Independent School Dis-

Governor Dolph Briscoe said on a national television network that he told Gerald Ford his energy program was a disaster.

The confrontation is supposed to have taken place during the President's visit to Houston early this week.

A spokesman for the White House denied any such incident having taken place. Who has his story crossed — the President or the governor?

I simply can't understand our policy in the Middle East.

We have been friends more than a score of years with Israel and was one of the chief architects in its building.

Arabs want to run the Jews out of Palestine. Theoretically we are on the side of Israel.

Now we are supplying missiles and fighter planes to Saudi Arabia. American "private" concerns are teaching Arabs military tactics and how to use American hardware.

This comes hot on the heels of a broad hint — almost a threat — from Secretary Kissinger that we would be willing to use armed intervention to secure Arabian oil if it comes to that to keep our industries going.

Are we going to find our friends and maybe even ourselves going against American trained Arabic soldiers and American armament.

It leaves me wondering if we are really interested in peace in the Middle East or in selling arms.

A cartoon in Time Magazine recently sums it up pretty well. The cartoonist shows a tattered Israeli soldier peering across a sand dune at an equally beraggled Arab with broken guns, tanks and planes littering the landscape. A suave armament salesman in between addresses himself to both with these words: "Now I'm sure both of you boys will want to re-order."

America's number one problem is not energy or either recession or depression.

It is the rapid disappearance of the American home — the building block of society and nations.

There seems to be loose in the land a pervasive atmosphere which would divide rather than unite the people upon whom responsibility rests for supplying these building blocks — men and women.

The key to national will is family. Aristotle said it long before the birth of Christ and it is a truism that hasn't changed to this day.

Duty and responsibility are words all but expunged from our vocabularies — replaced by an attitude of "I'm going to get mine now."

An ocean of oil is going to do us no good whatever unless these two words are returned to our set of practicing principles.

Without them the fate of Nineveh and Tyre is just around the corner.

County To Meet With Treasurer

County commissioners will meet again Monday with County Treasurer Bob McClendon in either open or closed session, after learning this week he was not in his office when nearly $10,000 in checks from other county officials lay on his desk undeposited and unguarded.

Some county officials told commissioners they took their checks for fees of office to be deposited in the county's various accounts to County Judge Woody Pond after finding McClendon's doors locked Friday and Monday.

Justice of the Peace W. A. "Bill" Wilson told commissioners he'd been unlocking the treasurer's door and placing other officials' and his own checks for deposit on the treasurer's desk.

"Where is the treasurer?" asked Commissioner John Fulgenzi.

"That's not a part of the JP's department," Wilson replied.

"I think maybe we should ask Bob—maybe we need an executive session to discuss personnel and invite Bob in," Fulgenzi said.

Later, in talking with County Judge Pond, who returned from a brief stay in the hospital shortly after commissioners court adjourned Monday afternoon, Fletcher suggested the session be open to the public, but Fulgenzi said the session should be closed if McClendon so requested.

McClendon, who ran for county treasurer on the Democratic ticket last May and in November, had as a major plank in his platform the abolishment of his office. He has said on several occasions he will work for the abolishment of the county treasurer's office in counties throughout the state.

He met with commissioners briefly in late January to explain why he had retained former county treasurer Mrs. Ruth Hill on the county payroll during the month of January. He told them Mrs. Hill's services were required to aid in the transition of office.

The same week in January, McClendon drew criticism from county employees who said he failed to release paychecks on the traditional date for monthly pay.

time with increased costs."

Commissioner Dee Griffin, Sr. pointed out to the Kids, Inc., officials that increases in already budgeted fund areas might cause an increase in taxation.

"If we can see a surplus in the fall maybe we can shuffle some money over to you," Fulgenzi said.

Fulgenzi also asked if Kids, Inc., could not mount a fund-raising drive to come up with additional funds for the current year.

Art Fields, another Kids, Inc., official explained that the program has several thousand volunteers who are already actively engaged just in supporting the program through coaching and other activities. Allen noted that Kids, Inc., is a member of the United Way and received funding through that agency.

The officials indicated they will return in July or August to make a formal request for funding for the 1976 fiscal year.

Commissioners also instructed Judge Pond to contact City of Amarillo officials to determine whether the city has any response to a letter written by the county commissioners more than two months ago expressing concern over traffic, particularly involving explosive cargo-bearing trucks, on Bell Avenue in Amarillo. The commissioners had asked that the truck route through Amarillo be changed to divert trucks with dangerous loads from Bell to Coulter Road to the west.

Commissioners received only one bid for the biannual depository selection. First National Bank of Canyon bid for the county's deposits for the next two years. The bank bid a rate .125 per cent above the U. S. Treasury bill rate on a given date. But, the rate will not fall below the 5 percent level for interest, the bank bid said.

The bid was tabled until next Monday.

trict."

It is signed by Robert L. Templeton, who, in capital letters, lists his position as "Attorney for Randall County Board of School Trustees."

"He's damn sure not," Judge Pond said Monday afternoon. "He's sure not representing us down here."

Dist. Atty. Sherrod said he had not authorized Templeton to file the brief on behalf or in the name of the county school board.

In a meeting with Sherrod, Pond asked that the district attorney contact Templeton "to tell him to get that brief back up here and let's get this thing straightened out."

Pond indicated the brief will be recalled from Austin, since it does not represent the views and is not authorized by the county school board, which split 3-2 on the Nov. 14 decision to allow the annexation.

Copies of the brief, although sent to Elton Cox, attorney for CISD, were not forwarded to Pond or Sherrod.

Cox, contacted Monday, said he is undecided on whether to file an answer to the brief for the CISD.

The brief, apparently unsolicited by the Texas Education Commissioner concerns one point in the CISD appeal argument — that the property to be detached from the Canyon district does not run contiguously with the Amarillo-Canyon school district boundary lines.

The brief cites no Texas court cases for the position that the property is contiguous since it is separated from the boundary line only by a road. But, it does cite cases in other states.

"I believe Mr. Templeton filed the brief in an effort to shore up his position as weak as it was," Cox said. "I do not recall (the associate commissioner who heard the appeal last month) requesting either side to file a brief. Mr. Templeton's brief is full of heresay and conclusions that would not be admissable in court and it represents the same stuff presented before the deputy commissioner."

Permits...

I'm sure it will be slow."

Lehnick said there are probably between six and 10 finished but unsold homes in the city.

So far in February there have been no building permits issued.

Lehnick said it appears local construction firms are simply waiting for a break in the economy before pumping more money into new housing.

"If interest rates would drop and people would start buying, then they'd start building again," he said. "The builders are waiting on the public and the public, I think, is waiting on the interest rate to drop."

Nevertheless, Lehnick said the future for construction looks bright in the city.

"With new industries coming into Amarillo, people will be looking for houses here," he said.

1973 was a record construction year in the city, with dozens of new homes going up in several peripheral subdivisions.

The permits were down in 1974 as the economic conditions nation-wide suffered.

We would like to wish Jame's father a very speedy recovery. He is in the hospital at Del Norte, Colorado, where he recently underwent back surgery.

OH YES, PAT Reed is still off work. She tripped and hurt her back in November. She is at present taking a round of physical therapy going everyday for two weeks. We certainly hope this will get your back into shape.

DIANA HOFFMAN HAS quit her job for awhile. She felt, she should be home to help her grandparents, Charles and Faye Diehl, who have been living here since about the middle of November. They are from Kansas and plan to return there in the next month or so.

WE WOULD LIKE TO WISH Charles Diehl a belated Happy Birthday. His birthday was February 6th and I'm sure he is every bit of 39. Diana gave him a family party with ice cream and cake.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO Pearl West. She passed 25 on February 10th, of course I don't know for sure how far passed.

She did tell me that she had a real good birthday this year. Quite a few cards, several presents and her husband Dale, and Pat and Tex Reed took her to Underwood's for dinner Sunday night. I told her, it went to show her that she's really not getting older, just better. I also want to wish my son, Tod, a very happy birthday and many many more. He turned eleven on the 11th.

We celebrated his birthday on Friday February 7th, when he had a slumber party with Carl Henry, Dusty West, Donnie Trammell, Barry Robinson and Marty Hoffman attending.

We started out with supper consisting of hamburgers, fritos, pringles, cheetos, coke, rootbeer, strawberry and birthday cake.

Then the boys went on a scavenger hunt in pairs and each list consisted of the same fifteen items. Tod and Carl were winners and received 50 cents each.

They also had a balloon game and the prizes were won by Carl, Donnie and Dusty. Each boy got a can of silly string for the next game and Marty won this prize. They pitched clothes pins into a pan, played Toss Across and 8 ball and then stayed up until 4:00 a.m. and then slept about 2½ hours. For breakfast they had cinnamon nut cake, milk and hot chocolate.

They all seemed to have a good time, I know I did. Of course I'm glad it only happens once a year.

GUESS IT IS time to sign off for this time so see you next week with the latest from Siesta. Keep on Reading.

Thought for this week, "Growing up is lots of fun, as long as you don't out grow your hat."

Come on you guys give me a call and let's get all the news in the paper.

See ya.

Recommendations are provided in areas such as recordkeeping, financial analysis, marketing, program production control, inventory control, organization structure, location surveys, pricing, credit, sales and routes. Graduate students are currently working on eight of these projects and will continue through the semester.

Income tax help

Some losses are deductible

If you suffer a permanent loss in value of personal or business property you may be able to take a deduction for the loss on your U.S. income tax return.

Damage or destruction caused by such things as fire, storms, flood damage, car wrecks, vandalism, thefts and condemnation give rise to tax deductions. The loss must be due to an identifiable event of a sudden, unexpected or unusual nature. A deduction is available to the extent that the loss exceeds insurance reimbursements.

The deduction for personal casualty loss is limited to the lower of cost or the fair market value of the property measured by the difference between the value immediately before and after the casualty. The amount of the loss must be reduced by any insurance proceeds and a $100 limitation. Casualty loss deduction for business property is determined in the same manner except that there is no $100 limitation.

In order to prove your loss you should be prepared to show the nature of the casualty and when it occurred, that you were the owner of the property, the cost of the property (evidenced by purchase contract, deed, etc.), depreciation, if any, the value before and after the casualty, and the amount of any insurance received. Photographs of the property before and after the casualty are often helpful in substantiating its condition and value.

This is an example of the information you can obtain by attending the "1975 Adult Teaching Texas Course" sponsored by the Panhandle Chapter of Certified Public Accountants and the Internal Revenue Service as a public service.

The two-night course on Thursday, Feb. 20, and Friday, Feb. 21, will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. at Room 207, University Complex South, West Texas State University, Canyon.

Instructors are volunteers from the Panhandle Chapter of C.P.A.'s, experienced in the preparation of tax returns. The IRS furnished the course material, "Your Federal Income Tax." The cost of the course is $1 per person and $1.50 per couple. Registrations must be made by Feb. 17 (see accompanying form).

Phone Books To Be Delivered

"Trail Dust and Good Water," a painting by San Antonio artist Donaly Yena, is the subject of the cover for the 1975 Canyon-Amarillo telephone directory, distributed this week.

The painting depicts day's end on a Texas cattle drive.

Mike Patrick, manager for Southwestern Bell, said that delivery in Canyon will require several days to complete.

Patrick noted that the number of directories delivered to residences will be reduced for economy reasons. "Basic delivery will be one directory per residence, although the customer may ask for additional directories," Patrick pointed out.

Business customers will continue to receive a full complement of directories.

Patrick also suggested that Canyon customers write the telephone numbers for emergency medical service and ambulance service in the emergency number section on the inside front cover of the directory.

News Brief

Dist. Judges Bryan Poff and George Dowlen will both handle juvenile court cases, it was decided during a two-minute meeting Monday.

A ding-a-ling orders Gas air conditioning now.

A telephone call to Pioneer Natural Gas brings an air conditioning specialist to your home for a free survey and cost estimate at no obligation to you. He'll answer all your questions, and tell you what it will take to install GAS air conditioning in your home. It's the first easy step toward having your dependable GAS air conditioning installed before the first hot, windy days are here.

A GAS air conditioning system is ruggedly built to cool quietly and efficiently. There are fewer moving parts, and no compressor to break down or wear out. It's this simple principle that gives GAS air conditioning its long life with no loss of cooling capacity and easy maintenance.

Install GAS air conditioning now. You'll avoid the rush, and be enjoying the quiet, cooling comfort of GAS air conditioning while everyone else is waiting. Give us a ring . . . a-ling.

Advertising... a vote of confidence in business.

(or how to tell the leaders without a scorecard.)

Recently there has been a lot of talk about upturns, downturns, and sideturns in business and industry.

You ask a man these days how the "outlook" appears to him, and you're liable to get a diagonal reply. Not a straight up-and-down nod. Not even a negative, sideways shake of the head.

Mostly the diagonal approach. It doesn't mean yes, business is going up. It doesn't mean no, it isn't.

The answer you frequently get is we'll wait and see. Inflation and some of the other unrests, you know

So the man and his company pull their horns in.

They wait for someone else to "take the lead," they say: No sense sticking our heads out until the situation "improves" itself.

In other words, sure we'll advertise —— or restore our budgets —— just as soon as we get more business.

Beautiful.

Everyone hangs around and waits for everything to happen automatically. Hold up. Cut back. Wait. The Prosperity Wagon is right around the corner. And it's going to come to me, old friend, me. Without me going out to get it.

Want to bet?

One thing about this economy of ours has never changed. A lack of confidence in our business system, manifested across business, only inspires more of the same. With the result that that wagon may be farther down the block than you think.

Business activity stimulates business.

Advertising helps you get sales.

Companies, agencies and media that advertise should be the ones you do business with, because we suspect you'd rather do business with confident people.

They take the time, trouble and money to inform you —— to help you know more —— about their products, their services and their markets. They care enough about you to go out of their way to tell you they want to do business with you.

We suspect that when the chips are down, this is how you can tell the real leaders.

They get our vote.

They also should get yours. If for no other reason than they are helping to build business for both of us.

American Comedy To Begin At WT

The richly characterized American comedy, "I remember Mama," will be presentedby the speech and theatre department of West Texas State University, Feb. 19-23. Performances in the Branding Iron Theatre are scheduled for 8 p.m. on Feb. 19, 20, and 22, and a matinee performance is scheduled for 2 p.m. Feb. 23.

Based on the novel "Mama's Bank Account" by Kathryn Forbes, "I remember Mama" was adapted for the stage by John van Druten. The ever-popular comedy portrays family life in a modest San Francisco home during the early years of the century.

"The actors will be depicting a family more concerned with human values than with materialistic things," commented Associate Professor William A. Moore, the play's director. "We selected the play partly because of the variety of acting roles it affords, giving equal opportunity to actors and actresses. Also, we felt audiences might enjoy escaping our present-day anxieties by viewing a rather nostalgic comedy, and considering a family situation from the past that did turn out happily."

Cast in the lead role of "mama" is Robin McKenzie Goodhue. Other roles are portrayed by Pam Hurst, as Katrin; Matt Ohmes, as Papa; Kim Durden, as Christine; Randy Clements, as Nels; Allison Brooks, as Dagmar; and Ron Williams, as Uncle Chris.

Also cast are Don Washburn as Mr. Hyde; Cheryl Tatham as Aunt Trina; Jenny Lynn Massad as Aunt Jenny; Kathy Schmidt as Aunt Sigrid; Dana Cockrell as Mr. Torkelson; Bob Scott as Dr. Johnson; David Brownlee as Arne; Heidi Corn and Tomi Longtin, nurses; and Barbara McCarn as Florence Dana Moorhead. Completing the cast will be Uncle Elizabeth, the cat, whose services are being donated by Kim Durden.

Acting coach for "I remember Mama" is Margaret Echols Moore. James Kemmerling is responsible for set design, and Cheryl Tatham is costumer.

Tickets for the performances, which are available through the box office in the Fine Arts Building, are $2 for adults, $1 for WT students without activities cards, and free for WT students with activities card.

Moisture Is Welcome Sight

By REBA RAEF

Greetings.

WE MEASURED .11 of an inch of moisture from the little snow of last week. I've seen a lot of the beautiful scenes of winter, but I've never seen anything so picturesque as the heavy frost early last Sunday morning.

I turned on the outside lights when I went to the store and the frost glittered just like a million diamonds, truly one of God's more beautiful Creations.

FOLLOWING AN 8:00 p.m. Mass last Tuesday, the Knights of Columbus hosted a Shrove Tuesday pancake supper in St. Mary's parish hall. After supper, games of 42,88 and double cup were enjoyed by the Knights and their ladies in the Columbus Club Hall.

LEAVE IT TO the Stocker boys to get together for a visit when they are far from home. Charlie, who has been in Korea for almost a year and Glen, who just arrived in Korea, managed to get together for a whole day in Seoul.

They hadn't seen each other in over a year, so you can imagine the visiting and "catching up" on news that must have gone on that day. Charlie expects to return home in March.

Henry Bracht's brother-in-law, Heinrich Panreck died January 30, and Conrad Westhoff's uncle, Heinrich Westhoff, died on Christmas day, but the word came just last week. Both families were notified with a letter edged in black. Our sympathy to both families.

LAST SUNDAY, JOE and Theresa Artho hosted a 45th wedding anniversary dinner for her parents, the Raymond Batenhorst's, in the Artho home near Hereford, though the date of the anniversary was February 11. Attending the turkey dinner complete with all the trimmings were John and Elaine Brorman and children from Adrain; Charles and Debbie Batenhorst and son from Canyon; and Judy, Johnny, Marion and Donna from Canyon and the Joe Artho familiy. The afternoon was spent playing cards.

Pioneer Talks about
Natural Gas for the Future

I'm pleased to report to our customers that Pioneer purchased more gas during 1974 than we used. This new gas will be available for future use, of course.

As you know, Pioneer is having to pay more for new gas than we've ever paid before. The competition for the gas produced in our area has never been so fierce. But the higher prices are resulting in lots of new exploration and production. I know of numerous wells which could not have been drilled at prices prevailing three years ago.

The increase in field prices means that our customers will have to pay more for the energy they use in their homes — gas and electricity — but more important, it means he'll have the gas he needs.

All energy will cost more in the future but gas will remain your best energy buy.
